Designing a youth friendly health promotion campaign

The video resource you saw in class informs young people about how a GP can help them and how they can access a GP. Think about what other ways you could communicate this information to young people in your area.

Design a health promotion program that communicates this information to young people using a method other than video.

Describe your intervention.

Why did you choose this kind of intervention?

How will you judge whether it is effective?